Waste Batteries and Accumulators Regulations 2009

From 1 February 2010, as a distributor of portable batteries Staples has certain obligations under the 'Waste Batteries and Accumulators Regulations 2009' including the taking back of used batteries from end-users, free of charge.

To comply with this obligation Staples in the UK has put in place used battery collection boxes at all of our 137 retail stores nationwide. We will ensure that any waste batteries returned within these boxes are sent to an Approved Treatment Facility for compliant disposal.
